"A Kentucky Lawyer."

A proxy old genius, who styles himself "A Kentucky Lawyer," is corresponding with JOHN J. CRITTENDEN through the columns of the Louisville Journal. It is not of much consequence who writes these letters, but they sound very much like the man who said that the Black Republican praise of Mr. CRITTENDEN added a wreath to his brow. That man was Hon. Geo. ROBERTSON—Judge.

Although these remarkable productions are ostensibly for the especial edification of JOHN J. CRITTENDEN, they are really designed to effect two purposes. One is to modify the sentiment of the people of Kentucky; another purpose is to publish these letters in a pamphlet form and spread them everywhere over the North as the sentiments of Hon. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN, and of his friends and party in Kentucky. These letters are so ultra and radical, that they cannot fail to satisfy the rabidness of Northern ultraism; to completely fill the full wishes of SEWARD, GREELEY, et id omne genus. These articles grow in daring and impudence; in rashness of expression and ultraism of position. The third is styled the "best of the series." The Know Nothing party, through its press, endorses these sentiments, and we ask the people of Kentucky—who have no interest in a Presidential candidate—who expect no reward for treachery—to read the following extracts and see the future of the Know Nothing party in this State, and quickly forsake the same and unite heart and hand with the conservative Democracy in preserving Kentucky honor, Kentucky rights, and our old Kentucky home. Let these letters rally the people at the coming election to rebuke the foul traitors, who in our State venture to utter such disgraceful sentiments—Democrats, Whigs and honest Know Nothings, unite as a band of brothers and save our State from deep disgrace.

These letters may make Mr. CRITTENDEN the nominee of the Black Republicans; they may secure him the nomination from the concentrated radicalism of our age and nation, but they will not make him President. These sentiments will not be endorsed by Kentucky.

This "Kentucky Lawyer" begins the first paragraph thus: "In answer to a claim made on you, Mr. CRITTENDEN, as a Southern man, to aid the South in perpetrating the Lecompton inquiry, you properly said you could not be influenced by such consideration." Ah! Mr. CRITTENDEN could not be influenced by the consideration that he was "a Southern man!" Frankness, truly! The "Kentucky Lawyer" continues: "But even if you could, that the South had no such claim on you; that Kentuckians were neither Northern nor Southern, but were Western people." What miserable twaddle and sophistry! The institution of slavery has divided our country into slaveholding and non-slaveholding States, and to these divisions we apply the term Northern and Southern. And yet, upon a mere childish effort at geographical display, this "Kentucky Lawyer" (!) attempts to mislead the people. Nay, Kentucky is Southern, and identified with the South, and was to the politician who attempts to forget or ignore his position as a Southern man! Traitors will not be nurtured nor cherished within her bosom.

Read these extracts and determine whether they are or are not akin to the foul-mouthed abuse of SUMNER and GIDDINGS. "States," referring to the Southern States Geographically now, this friend of Mr. CRITTENDEN writes, "States that have not sufficient mechanical skill and industry to manufacture their own plows and axes, nor their hats and shoes—States who know no manual industry but that of the slave, and the bulk of whose population are sluggishly attenuating a languid, squalid existence under the enervating influence of their climate." Although this is written about the Southern States, more extremely Southern, yet who cannot fail to perceive the drift of the writer—to propagate and organize a Free-soil Society in Kentucky, similar to that of Blair & Co., in Missouri.

Mr. CRITTENDEN's friend then proceeds to address our fears, and to ask us to bow the suppliant knee to the North, lest the asserting and maintaining of our rights might lead to a division of the Union; and then we should be at the mercy of a foreign power! Is this the language of a free-man? What! Count the cost in money when honor and rights are concerned? Nay, we strike for right as did our fore-fathers, and true hearts and hands will serve a nation of freemen for any just cause.

In the next paragraph we have another fling at Southern gentlemen, borrowed from the Free-ill oratory of the North and its paternity not obscured, by referring it to an old Kentuckian! All such phrases are born of the Tribune and its abolition priests. After asking the question who of the South would protect our "line of indefensible frontier?" he says: "An old Kentuckian (!) answered the question by saying they (the South) would offer us any number of gentlemen with epaulettes, but not a single man with knapsack and musket." Can't we defend our own border?—Mr. CRITTENDEN and his party are of the opinion that we are truly defenceless children—have not yet reached a mature age, and carry not yet a strong arm sufficient for our own defence. Nay, Kentucky is full-grown and breeds a race of men who can and will maintain their rights against a world in arms.

But still further—Mr. CRITTENDEN's friend, in this third letter, declares that "the whole grievance from which we are suffering," is that "the North do not admire negro slavery" and "tell us so." Nay, more. He declares that "wrong to us or aggression upon our rights as slaveholders by the Federal Government; there has been none, absolutely none. The bribery Kansas act of last session contains more aggression upon the rights of the North, a gross violation of the equality of right between Northern and Southern sections, and a more wanton insult to the North than can be shown in any and all the actions of the government against the South." Does this need a reply? Is it true that the South for the last thirty years has almost daily been complaining with no good cause? Better friends to the South are the conservative papers of the North, than Mr. CRITTENDEN and his allies, in uttering such a false statement. Shall we elevate a party and a man to power, who not only proclaim such statements, but make them the platform of their political faith and conduct?

This Kentucky pettifogger yields the question of what is Kentucky's duty if she be considered a Southern State? He virtually admits that Kentucky, as a Southern State, must go with the Democracy. He labors through columns to prove that she is not Southern but Western, and hence her interest and duty to let Illinois and Iowa and Ohio decide upon her course. Under the plea of Union, he attempts to separate our interests from the South, and link us with Abolition States of the West that run off our negroes, and render our property insecure. Nay, Mr. CRITTENDEN! Nay Mr. Kentucky Lawyer! Not to elevate one of you to the Presidential seat and the other to the Cabinet, can or will the noble people of our glorious State, forget their principles and their duty, nor desert their sister States of the South, and go over to Abolitionism! Many, deceived for a moment, may have co-operated with Mr. CRITTENDEN and his confederates; but light is breaking upon their pathway, whether they are being led, and for what purpose, and everywhere they are forsaking the base coalition, and ranking themselves with a party which does not stigmatize and contempt the South.

Mr. CRITTENDEN has sealed his fate! Not only will he fail to reach the Presidential mansion, but, being faithful to his lesser trust, he will lose his present honor, and his place in the Senate be filled with a true Kentuckian, who will represent our noble State without fraternization with, or compliments from the radical, Black Republican of the North.

THE RIX RAX IN LEXINGTON.—The great double R. made a speech in Lexington on Saturday night. From a friend, who was present, we learn that it was, as usual, a miserable failure. He discoursed on "Governments;" denounced the Yeoman and Courier, and wound up with his spread eagle flourish. Before he had concluded, nearly all had left the Court-house. He disappoints his friends wherever he goes. He is advertised as a great orator—an eloquent speaker, whereas he is a very ordinary cross roads politician—a regular coffee-house slung-whanger.

He told the people that he was sure to be elected. Wonderfully sure! It will be some time first. He will be pretty by the time he is elected Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

We should like to guess some hats and boots that he is beaten a few thousand votes.

ALL FUDGE.—The Democrats of Louisville are enacting their annual farce, entitled "All going to vote." About two days before the election, the Democratic party will come out not resistant, the Democratic Committee will pay over to Know Nothing bullies all the money they can raise; the Democratic party will stay at home or go fishing on the day of the election, and the Know Nothings will carry the city. Then will commence the usual whine about Know Nothing misrule and Know Nothing outrages.

OUR OLD BLOWER.—We hope our Democratic friends will see that the great Rix Rax, who abuses us into such profitable notoriety, is well taken care of in his wanderings. See that he has enough to eat and drink—be particular about the latter—and a place to sleep in at night. We could not afford to lose him now. As he is working for his victuals and clothes, we wish to have him paid. The ox is worthy of his hire—so is the ass.

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier says that the large Rix Rax devotes half an hour of each speech to the YEOMAN and its editor.—Goodness gracious! A half hour of his precious time! How can we ever repay him? We will republish the biography of his father, all about the tinker. Well, we will.

AN "INDEPENDENT"—Caldwell county is affected with an everlasting pest named BILL ACKER. He seems to be under the impression that the people are dying for his valuable services in some capacity or other. He is always running for office, and always gets badly beaten of course. The Princeton Statesman administers to him the following peppery dose:

"Accuse will be defeated, and that badly. And he ought to be. An egotist and a bigot—a vain, pompous, boasting demagogue, without merit or political principle—he has, ever since he was old enough to vote, been a festering thorn in the bosom of his party; shameless and immoral—he has been ever lastingly and eternally seeking office in time of peace, and ready of his indignities for it, and heedless of the wishes or opinions of anybody but himself."

The Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin writes the following lines to the ladies:

Do abolish long skirts in the streets, and doff so much finery. The French and English ladies all wear short skirts, and show their pretty ankles, with their snow white stockings. The Baltimore under skirt is much worn.

WHAT NEXT?—The Eaton (!) Democrat notices a meeting of "The Friends of Progress," with baskets in hand, in a grove near that town, on Sunday next, where Mrs. Carver, of Cincinnati will speak in a trance state.

THE OLD BONE OF CONTENTION.—The ministers of Louisville are quarrelling over "that Greek word babble."

We notice a sale in Philadelphia, July 10th, of a small lot Bank of Kentucky stock, at 110.

The correspondent of the New York Times writing from Salt Lake City, June 29th, says that the Peace Commissioners, POWELL and McCUTCHON, would leave in two weeks for Washington.

Col. SAM PIKE has bought the Hillsboro (O.) Gazette, a long established Democratic paper, and will soon take charge of it as editor and proprietor.

Messrs. KEENON & CRUTCHER, under the YEOMAN Office, have received Harper's Magazine, and Godey's Lady's Book for August, also a number good things to read.

ANOTHER BARNUM HOAX.—The papers, a few weeks since, had a puffing article of the notorious charlatan, BARNUM, to the purport that he had sailed for England to bring over the greatest musical troupe in the whole history of the world, including Lumley, the great manager of her Majesty's Theatre, London. It is all a hoax.

MANUFACTURES AT THE SOUTH.—The extent to which manufactures have been introduced at the South is not generally appreciated. In Georgia alone there are more than sixty cotton factories, while in other States, particularly Alabama and Louisiana, such factories are being continually erected.

What kills ministers?—N. Y. Evangelist. We don't know what kills them in New York. But we know that Know Nothingism has killed a great many of them in Kentucky.

Mr. Silas N. Hodges, of Frankfort, Kentucky, for some time assistant editor of that sterling journal, the Yeoman, was a few days ago united in matrimony to Miss E. E. Bliss, a handsome Louisville lady of seventeen summers. The son of our old Kentucky friend has certainly become a partner in a blessed content, and, on prayer is that his "shadow may never grow less."

Cin. Enquirer. It is but simple justice to Mr. Hodges to say that he has never been connected with this paper in any capacity. He is in much better business, and we cheerfully say amen to the prayer of the Enquirer concerning his "shadow."

A COLORED LION IN DISGUISE.—According to the statement of a reliable gentleman, who has recently been North, says the Virginia Herald, the noted ANTHONY BURNS, a fugitive obtained in Boston only at the point of the bayonet, and who afterwards purchased and set free, is now in the penitentiary of Massachusetts for the crime of robbery.

The Georgetown Gazette very pertinently remarks that when "CRITTENDEN declared himself anti-Leopontine, GIDDINGS cried and begged him, BARNUM clapped his hands, and the abolition press shouted for joy. When he returned home covered with abolition glory, Kentucky Know Nothings pressed him warmly to their bosoms, and applauded the course by which he drew tears from GIDDINGS, congratulation from BARNUM, and shouts of joy from the Black Republican press."

A man named CRITCHEY was shot in Ashland, Ky., last Sunday night, while sneaking in the yard of Mr. FLEISCHER. More than twenty-five shot lodged in his back, wounding him severely, though not dangerously.

LEGAL TENDER.—Very many persons are ignorant as to what constitutes a legal tender in United States coins. Peterson's Bank-Note List gives it as follows:

Fifties, twenties, tens, fives, two and a half and one dollar pieces are receivable at their respective value, for debts of five dollars and under. Fifty, twenty-five, ten and five-cent pieces at their respective value, for debts of five dollars and under. Three-cent pieces for debts under thirty cents. One-cent pieces for debts under ten cents.

THE SONS OF MALTA.—This flourishing and rapidly growing order, now holding a convention in Philadelphia, is represented by delegates from all parts of the Union, and part of Europe. Two English Lords are delegates, and in convention they created much excitement—they are Lord ELMEST and Lord DERBOR, from London. Scotland is also represented. The proceedings are private. There are over seven hundred delegates on the floor from different lodges.

A PUZZLE TO THE FRENCH.—A Frenchman can never understand the energy and pluck of the American character. It is a common saying, in France, "L'Américain ne se doute de rien," which is equivalent to "An American doesn't distrust his ability to do anything he chooses." John Bull's bad manners do not astonish Johnny Caspary any more than Jonathan's enterprise.

Mr. Dallas' Speech—Fourth of July in London.

The Americans in London celebrated the Fourth of July in fine style. Many eminent Englishmen were present. Our Minister, Mr. DALLAS, in response to a toast, made a most and appropriate speech, which concluded as follows:

"You know that we have recently had some little difficulties on the coast of the United States and in the West India Sea (hear!)—a matter with which, as one of the militiamen in the diplomacy of the United States, I was lately charged. Now, without referring to that question more closely, it is a point which is essentially connected with one of the fundamental principles of the American Revolution—that principle being the necessity of maintaining on behalf of the great American people, as a great community, the independence of their flag. [Cheers.] Well, I am not going to argue the question as to visit and search. It has been over and over again, for years back, argued and reargued. But I should like on the 4th of July to announce to my fellow countrymen that visit and search in regard to American vessels on the high seas in time of peace is frankly and finally ended. [Tremendous cheering.] The whole company rising and manifesting the liveliest enthusiasm. While, gentlemen, I am able to announce this gratifying fact I think it ought also to be accompanied by the assurance that the termination of that for which we have struggled for nearly half a century has been brought about with a degree of honorable candor and fair dealing on the part of the British Government, which is worthy of every acknowledgement on our part. [Loud cheers.] With a view to draw these remarks to a close, I beg leave to offer you, as a toast, the name of one of the earliest representatives alike of the principles of the American Revolution and of the United States—I mean Thomas Jefferson, the author of the Declaration of Independence. [Loud cheers.]"

THANKS.—We are indebted to Mr. BEN. BLINCOE, the gentlemanly omnibus agent on the L. & L. Railroad, for Cincinnati papers in advance of the mail.

Death of William T. Porter.

We regret to record the death of William T. Porter, which occurred yesterday morning at 9½ o'clock, at his residence, No. 5, Bleeker street. Thirty-two years ago Mr. Porter was foreman of a printing office in this city, and employed Horace Greeley as a compositor. Five years afterwards he started a paper, devoted to field sports, racing, hunting, fishing, and the like, called The Spirit of the Times. Its success, for some time, was doubtful, but the energy displayed by its editor, and the talent which he engaged on its pages, soon gained it a wide and ultimately a permanent reputation. Mr. Porter (who was a native of Vermont, born in 1806) was the second of four brothers, who were all distinguished for their literary ability. His eldest brother, Doctor T. O. Porter, about the year 1845, in connection with Mr. Nettie P. Willis started a weekly paper, called The Corsair, which did not meet with the success it merited. Another brother, George Porter, connected himself with the New Orleans Picayune, and died in that city. After his death, a still younger brother, Frank Porter, previously connected with the revenue service, repaired to New Orleans to supply his place, but fell sick there, and after a voyage to Europe, in search of health, returned and laid his bones by the side of his brother. Of all the family only the subject of our present notice survived. He had been assisted by his brothers in the establishment of his paper, and had also enlisted the best talent for a few weeks, but on the 10th of September, 1856, he fell sick there, and after a voyage to Europe, in search of health, returned and laid his bones by the side of his brother.
